The South Paris and West Paris High Schools are now occupying their new buildings. While the new buildings have been far from perfect, they have been as good as could be expected. The town of Paris now has two "up-to-the-minute" high schools. The people of the town and every thing possible to increase the usefulness of these two institutions. They are the two institutions which are doing the most work for the betterment of the social and educational life in the town. The future of the rising generation depends on the efficiency and support of these high schools.

There are in the town of Paris, at least 1000 boys and girls who are to be in high school and every thing possible to increase the usefulness of these two institutions. The few veteran soldiers and the many friends of comrade L. B. Held in the vicinity were sadly disappointed not being able to attend his funeral. It was held in the church near the burial ground, but instead it was held on Summer Hill. Since the death of Mr. Held, Sharon Brown has been the only living in town of 110 soldiers. The memory of the old soldiers will remain, but this will be retained as long as the G. R. Relief Corps of the town exists and continues its work of loyalty and fidelity.

THE OXFORD BEARS.

THE DOINGS OF THE WEEK IN ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTY.

Paris Hill.

Services at Paris Hill Baptist church every Sunday at 10:30 A.M. Sunday School at 12:30 P.M. Prayer meetings at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Joseph C. Cole, who has been confined to her bed by tonsilitis for the past week, is reported better.

Mrs. Mabel M. Lunt closed her summer home and left last Friday, to return for Washington, D. C., where she will remain for some time and perhaps go farther south later instead of returning to California.

Mrs. Agnes M. Brown has closed her summer home and returned to Wilmington, Del., for the winter.

Col. and Mrs. Edward T. Brown attended Thursday for Redlands Cal., where they spent the winter. Major and Mrs. John M. Gage, George T. Smith, all made brief stops in Boston and Washington.

Charles J. Cooper and Charles H. Rogers closed their summer home and returned to Paris Hill, Florida, where they expect to remain during the winter.

Rev. C. A. Knickerbocker of Water- ville, formerly of this village, has recently returned to his home and opened his medical office. He is making a good recovery. Mrs. Knickerbocker is with Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray Quinby at their home in Wellsville.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Aldrich and Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Twitchell start the present week with their automobiles to drive to Florida, where they will spend the winter.

A heavy rain fall on Tuesday night and Wednesday of last week has remedied the water shortage, at least until another summer, before which time it is hoped that an increased public supply will be available.

Samuel C. Park, for many years a citizen of this village, who has been ill for several months, passed away Saturday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Roberta, at the Hallowell party, at the school house Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Parks having 100 per cent spelling for the week; Oliver Field, William Valley, Yvonne Valley, Erswell Stone, Clinton Everett, Linwood Strout, Roy Slattery, Arlan Whitney, Nellie Field, Gertude Goss, and others. The school now has a membership of more than eight girls, nearly all of whom were present at this meeting.

Harold Bartlett and friend, Miss Freedman, of Concord, N. H., visited the school on Tuesday evening.

Ralph Young visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young, at Woodfords last week.

The school year is now in full swing, with the exception of the first few days.

Edwin J. Mann, who died 19 years ago, was a small boy and his brother well and helpful to his widowed mother and brother and sisters early in life. He was endowed with the sterling qualities of perseverance, honesty, thrift and a sense of humor. Of course, in his unassuming nature, only those most intimately acquainted with him knew of his many deeds of kindness and generosity. And in his later years, when health failed, he retained his simple, plain ideas of living. Mr. Mann was educated in the schools of Troy, N. Y.

A fine young manhood he has been identified with the business world of Paris Hill, and is doing well.

Miss Doris Frost and Miss Ruth Skinner of Dorchester, Mass., recently visited C. A. Frost for a few days here.

Mrs. Anna Bean, Miss Annie Hanley, and Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Vane, motored to Boston on Tuesday last week, where they spent a few days.

The Hurry Habit and Underweight.

As the world is made up set largely to the will to either gain or lose weight, we read many suggestions for tipping the scale correctly. Those who are underweight usually feel that they are not as strong as those who are overweight. Whether diet and exercise, it faithfully persists in, is more successful with overweight than underweight, is perhaps debatable, but there is one important secret underlying underweight.

After studying the people who are attractive, the writer made this discovery—they were thin.

The first tale of a shirt involves an elderly woman who called at the office and was anxious for the return of a night shirt which she said her son had left on a pullman. It should be easy to discover, said she, as it was made of heavy blue and white flannel.

It was located and when the clerk was wrapping it up to return it, a grain of sand fell out which the woman had failed to appreciate the article—her sit, too—had left it on the car on purpose, but as long as Tom's home, he's going to wear it.

Judging from the town in which she delivered this ultimatum, Tom will wear it until he takes another trip and manage to lose it on another pullman car far from home.

A passenger had a night shirt which he had brought as a substitute for his return, saying, "The weather is cold and the tails of the shirt are long, so please rush by return mail."

So foolish to scramble for the tails of the shirt when relaxation could and should be enjoyed.

So, to the surprise of the telephone operator, the man was when he came back with, "Oh, the poor fellow."

Ammonia Water Closes Furniture.

To remove smoke and smoke from furniture, use two quarts of lukewarm water with two tablespoons of house hold ammonia. Wash the furniture and then go over it with a soft cloth moistened in cedar oil. This is especially good for mahogany.

Dwellers in Cities.

About 30,000,000 of the world's inhabitants live in cities, centers of population, and the number of residents each according to German statistics, about 90,000,000 people live in 393 cities, or one person in every fourteen.

Cold Comfort.

It is an extraordinary fact that men buried in an avalanche of snow—he distinctly every word uttered by those who are seeking for them, while their own voices have been cut off.

There is no doubt that even a nervous breakdown, as surely as tobacco or drugs!
